Tenure-track Assistant Professor in Public Policy and Global Affairs

The School of Humanities and Social Sciences (HSS) at NTU Singapore invites suitably qualified candidates to apply for a tenure-track Assistant Professor position in any of the following areas: political science, including public policy, public administration, comparative politics, international relations and political theory. Priority will be given to Public Policy and Public Administration. Outstanding senior candidates may be appointed at the Associate Professor level.

Public Policy and Global Affairs at NTU is a major academic subject in the School of Humanities and Social Sciences, which offers a Minor in Public Administration, a Major in Public Policy and Global Affairs, M.A. and Ph.D. programmes by research, and general electives. More information is available on the following website: <http://www.hss.ntu.edu.sg/Programmes/ppga/Pages/Home.aspx>.

The teaching load is appropriate to that of a major research university (2 courses each semester, or 7 – 8 hours / week). NTU is committed to a comprehensive educational experience in a multicultural environment. It offers highly competitive annual salaries and strong support for faculty research and publication.

To apply, please refer to the Guidelines for Submitting an Application for Faculty Appointment (<http://www.ntu.edu.sg/ohr/career/submit-an-application/Pages/Faculty-Positions.aspx>) and email your application package [consisting of a cover letter, curriculum vitae, personal particulars form, evidence of teaching effectiveness (if available), a writing sample, and the names of three referees] to the following:
