Dear Colleagues, Members, and Friends of IPSA,

It is a pleasure to welcome you to the 26th IPSA World Congress, the first virtual congress IPSA is celebrating in its more than 70-year history. Undoubtedly, this congress is very different from those you have visited in previous years and very different to the event we had originally planned. As in many other regards, the Covid-19 pandemic imposed some hardships on IPSA. The Executive Committee first had to postpone our congress and then had to take the painful decision to transfer to a virtual format, as we all would have wanted to meet in the wonderful city of Lisbon and have inspiring intellectual encounters with our colleagues. IPSA is very proud to have mastered the challenge of a virtual event and to be able to present herewith an exciting program. This program achieves to continue our global mission, to present opportunities for academic exchange and to connect and build networks across continents.

With the congress theme developed by the Program Co-Chairs Bertrand Badie and Hasret Dikici Bilgin, we struck a nerve even before the pandemic. However, the domestic and global political developments triggered within the last year have once again increased the relevance of the topic. In this respect, it is gratifying that this topicality can be captured with new panels and papers. Nationalism has become a revitalized frame of reference around the world in recent years, while multilateral structures have been increasingly challenged by key actors. On the one hand, Covid-19 has shown that crises - especially when they have this multilayered and global dimension - can only be overcome with cooperation, while on the other hand, mitigating measures also strengthened nationalist policy approaches. The task of our discipline is not only to explain these developments, but also to discuss them publicly and to point out possible solutions. IPSA can draw on a wide range of perspectives in this regard.

Organizing a world congress always requires an organizational effort of major dimensions. This time, however, the whole team was confronted with unprecedented challenges. Effectively, every element had to be re-designed and adapted to the new format. Additionally, many processes had to be done twice. Therefore, my profound thanks and respect for their untiring efforts refers to the Program Co-Chairs, Bertrand Badie and Hasret Dikici Bilgin, the Chairs of the Research Committees, Session Chairs and all those involved persons that had to deal with paper allocation, and the staff of the Secretariat under the leadership of Kim Fontaine-Skronski: Roksolana Bobyk, Thomas Chapdelaine, Halûk Dag, Eric Grève, Ekaterina Kuzmenko, Mathieu St-Laurent, Fernand Thériault and Yee Fun Wong. This is not only the first virtual World Congress, but also the first that has been prepared and organized in home offices and remotely. Last but not least, my heartfelt thanks go to the Portuguese Local Organizing Committee and its Co-Chairs, Carlos Jalali and Madalena Meyer Resende, who prepared this congress with enthusiasm and had to experience the disappointment of not being able to host it in Lisbon as planned. IPSA is indebted to the LOC's commitment to IPSA and this congress.

I also want to extend my appreciation to the members of the IPSA Executive Committee on which rested the responsibility for this World Congress. Importantly, my thanks go to all members and participants for their patience and loyalty to our organization in these difficult times. The fact that they have remained devoted to this congress has carried us to this point and has finally made it possible to sustain the thread of global academic exchange.

Marianne Kneuer
President

Words of Welcome

Welcome to the 26th IPSA World Congress! We were supposed to hold this Congress in the nice and historical city of Lisbon in July 2020. The sanitary conditions changed our plan, by postponing our meeting to July 2021 and by converting it into a virtual gathering. This change is also a manner of making the evidence that nothing can totally prevent a global human conversation! In its way, this virtual Congress, through its modalities, highlights one of the major issues of our new global world: is there anything that can definitely prevent the increasing integration of human, political, and economic relations that are currently taking place? The “new nationalist challenge” that is presently at stake was selected, three years ago, as the main theme of our present Congress: it is more than ever strongly relevant!

We considered then that, with the beginning of the present millennium, a new kind of nationalism had clearly emerged everywhere around the world. It should be considered as a paradox, as its spectacular rising occurred in a period which could be reputed by its openness, globalization and interdependence. Of course, like many others, this paradox was largely an illusion: we could easily identify this development as a reaction of fear and protection against a comprehensive and rapid globalization process. Beyond this truism, we need now to go further and reach a more sophisticated level of understanding by posing some key-questions: how to conceive and describe this new nationalism, its different aspects and diversity? How to consider its impact on domestic politics, political attitudes, political mobilization, political regimes, but also on global governance and international relations? How to classify it in the present world where it coexists with populism, authoritarianism, and ethnicism, while all of them appear close - but not identical- categories? How to understand its impact on these latter categories that are all gaining ground across the world?

The topic remains strongly in step with the present events, even those that occurred after having opted for this theme. The present pandemic is obviously at the core of the new global world, as it appears as a global issue impacting the entire humanity, as a global threat that gives meaning to the new and decisive key-concept of “global security”. However, the most common reactions that we observed are to be found in the traditional nationalist repertoire, through closing borderlines, preventing migrations, triggering sovereign and non-concerted political decisions, boosting different kinds of war, on the masks, the tests and the vaccines. In the meantime, all the attempts of adopting a robust resolution from the Security Council were blocked, especially at the initiative of some of the permanent members; in the same way, no reform was planned for improving the conditions of a real health global governance, particularly inside the WHO. Even regional institutions remained weakly reactive if we consider, for instance, the lack of coordination inside the EU.

New nationalism seems to get stronger and stronger in structuring political behavior and shaping public policies in a moment when it is more than ever at odds with the main current issues that are at stake. Many discrepancies of this kind have been important steps in our political history. As such, they deserve to be addressed in this unusual congress! We wish you pleasant and enriching debates that will certainly offer an important contribution to our science!

Bertrand Badie and Hasret Dikici Bilgin
Program Co-Chairs

Words of Welcome

It is safe to say that the 2021 World Congress of Political Science will go down in IPSA's history! I join our numerous members who have expressed disappointment in not being able to meet in person in beautiful Lisbon, Portugal. The last 18 months have been very challenging for the entire organization, from the Secretariat staff who monitored the situation with the pandemic and conducted thorough assessments on the best alternative to an in-person

Congress from a financial, logistical, and reputational standpoint, to the Executive Committee (EC) members who had to take the very difficult and heart wrenching decision to transition to a virtual format in 2021. I would like to thank all those involved, particularly the Program Co-Chairs, the members of the Local Organizing Committee in Portugal, the EC members and the devoted IPSA Secretariat team, for their hard work and their support in bringing to our members this state-of-the-art virtual World Congress.

The postponement of the Congress to 2021 had important financial implications for the organization. We had to be creative, and this is why we offered a one-year free membership to those who had registered at the 2020 Congress to maintain their registration for 2021. The response was positive, with over two-thirds of registrations maintained. When the Congress transitioned to a virtual format, we created the Solidarity Category of registration, inviting those who had registered at the initial fee to donate the difference with the reduced fee to the Global South Solidary Fund created in 2018 to help scholars from the Global South participate in our congresses. I am pleased to announce that 40% of the delegates who had registered donated to this category while 10% of new delegates also contributed to the fund. I want to take this opportunity to extend a heartfelt thank you to all our members who welcomed these initiatives for their continued loyalty to IPSA. Your show of support was a great motivation for the Secretariat team and the entire organization to move ahead despite the challenges and difficulties brought on by the pandemic.

We are pleased to welcome over 2,800 delegates from all over the world to the 2021 congress, making this congress the second largest in attendance. This is no small achievement for an event that was postponed and then transformed into a virtual format. This has created many challenges but it also opened new opportunities: A second call for papers, which allowed the participation of hundreds of new delegates who would not have been able to travel but who could attend now in a virtual mode, thus making it one of the most inclusive World Congresses ever; An international call for volunteers, which resulted in welcoming volunteers from all over the world, a first for an IPSA congress; Finally, as "necessity is the mother of innovation", the pandemic has pushed all of us to learn new technologies that are certain to become ubiquitous in the future and will undoubtedly prove to be instrumental in increasing scientific exchanges with scholars from all parts of the world.

I would like to take this opportunity to, once again, thank you all for your participation and to wish everyone a successful World Congress.

Kim Fontaine-Skronski
Executive Director

On behalf of the Local Organizing Committee (LOC), we welcome you to the 26th IPSA World Congress of Political Science, which is taking place between 10 and 15 July 2021. The LOC is delighted to be associated with this international event. The transformation of the Congress – from Lisbon to an online event – has been very successful, and we would like to congratulate the IPSA Secretariat and the two program Co-Chairs Prof. Bertrand Badie and Prof. Hasret Dikici Bilgin for their hard and competent work. The LOC organizes two panels, on Nationalism and Internationalism and on the Lessons from the Portuguese Democracy.

The Congress will be a great opportunity to present your work and discuss political science and international relations topics with scholars from all over the world. It will have a particularly strong representation since it will also integrate the biennial Congress of the Portuguese Political Science Association.

We look forward to see you online!

Land of Ideas

The International Political Science Association (IPSA) was founded in Paris in 1949 under the aegis of the United Nations Educational, Scientific and Cultural Organisation (UNESCO) to promote the development of political science throughout the world. As an international scholarly association, IPSA has a mission to:

- Support the development of political science in all parts of the world, building academic networks linking East and West, North and South;
- Create an inclusive and global political science community by ensuring a balanced representation along the lines of region, gender and experience in all of its activities;
- Promote collaboration between scholars in emerging and established democracies and to support the academic freedoms needed for the social sciences to flourish;
- Ensure that political scientists are strongly positioned to make a valuable contribution to the quality of public deliberation and decision-making and to our understanding of an increasingly interconnected political world;
- Support the role of political science in empowering men and women to participate more effectively in political life.

Institutional Relationships

IPSA is a member of the International Science Council (ISC) and of the Global Development Network (GDN) and has a consultative status with the Economic and Social Council of the United Nations (ECOSOC) and with UNESCO. It is also affiliated with the United Nations Department of Public Information - Non-Governmental Organizations (DPI/NGO) and the Organisation internationale de la Francophonie (OIF). IPSA also supports the development of the Réseau des associations francophones de science politique.

IPSA's main activities

Research

IPSA has 51 active research committees covering all facets of political science. Starting with one in 1970, IPSA Research Committees are now a vast worldwide research network where all interested individuals are welcome to contribute. Research committees frequently publish their work and organize their own conferences. They each present a minimum of two panels at IPSA World Congresses, but in most cases many more. Joint panels between two or more RCs are strongly encouraged.

Anti-harassment Policy: Code of Conduct

The purpose of this document is to provide an authoritative statement of the expectations for conduct for all who participate in IPSA meetings and congresses. The Code of Conduct is a natural outcome of IPSA's commitment to maintaining and promoting a professional environment at its meetings and other organized activities, and it is guided by the conviction that the advancement of knowledge flourishes most readily in an atmosphere of constructive debate in which all members treat each another with dignity and respect.

The International Political Science Association (IPSA) brings together professionals from a variety of backgrounds and from a large number of locations around the globe. This diversity brings with it the potential for fruitful dialogue about research and policy, but also the possibility of disagreements among members. This Code of Conduct is designed to ensure that all are treated with dignity and respect; and that sensitivity and consideration guide our interactions while, at the same time, not limiting the substance or arena of our debate.

- 1) This Code of Conduct refers to relations between IPSA members, IPSA Headquarters staff, and other participants, and to their interactions in the course of IPSA activities.
 - a) IPSA activities include IPSA's governing bodies (Executive Committee, Council), world congresses, regional and committee meetings and workshops, and editing of IPSA's journals.
 - b) Some matters of professional ethics are under the purview of specific committees and are addressed elsewhere: for instance, plagiarism and academic freedom.
- 2) IPSA office holders, from the President and Executive Director to members of the Executive Committee (EC) and editors of IPSA journals, have a special responsibility to uphold and observe this Code of Conduct, promoting in the Association's activities a professional environment characterized by constructive debate and the treatment of all members and participants with dignity and respect.
- 3) IPSA recognizes that there is a distinction between victimization through harassment and legitimate, justifiable, and appropriate constructive criticism. Nothing in this document should be construed as a limitation on the ability of members and participants to constructively evaluate and critique one another's work.
- 4) Nonetheless, IPSA recognizes its duty to ensure that members and participants are not harassed. It further recognizes that this duty is of wider application and includes all members and participants, regardless of status or the period of time.
 - a) Harassment can be defined as unwanted conduct (actions or comments) related to age, gender, gender identity, sexual orientation, race, disability, religion, nationality, citizenship or any personal characteristic of the individual, which has the purpose (intentional) or effect (unintentional) of violating a person's dignity or creating an intimidating, hostile, degrading, humiliating or offensive environment for that person.
- b) Harassment may include, but is not limited to:
 - i. Offensive, insulting, intimidating, or malicious behavior targeted at another person or persons;
 - ii. Abuse or misuse of power intended to undermine, humiliate, denigrate, or injure the person or persons toward whom such behavior is targeted;
 - iii. Actions or comments - persistent or isolated - affecting the dignity of people or individuals. The key is that the actions or comments can be experienced as demeaning and unacceptable;
 - iv. Sexual harassment or intimidation.
- 5) IPSA recognizes that members and participants who feel that they have been victims of harassment as defined in this Code of Conduct are entitled to pursue their case in a welcoming and non-threatening environment.
- 6) IPSA is committed to ensuring that complaints brought under this procedure shall not lead to the victimization or harassment of any individual.
 - a) The procedures for addressing grievances (detailed below) aim to resolve complaints in an informal way, whenever possible. At the same time, IPSA recognizes that punitive measures may be required to address some violations.
 - b) IPSA also is committed to ensuring that those who lodge complaints under this Code are not subject to retaliation by respondents or third parties.
- 7) IPSA ensures that procedures are in place to address complaints of harassment. Such procedures provide for:
 - a) Timely handling of such complaints;
 - b) Fair and impartial handling of such complaints; and
 - c) Fair, impartial, and sensitive treatment of all parties affected by such complaints.
- 8) Congress and event participants should report – directly or through another IPSA office holder – a violation of the Code of Conduct to the IPSA Delegate for Anti-Harassment Policy (from here on: the Delegate). The Delegate is appointed by the EC at its pre-World Congress meeting to serve until the next pre-World Congress meeting.
- 9) In cases where the reported behavior is ongoing, or where there is a question of immediate physical harm or danger, steps will be taken by IPSA officials to ensure the safety of participants, regardless of whether a formal complaint is pursued or not.

- 10) Participants have two options through which to pursue a complaint:
 - a) If the participant does not wish to enter into a formal investigation process, then IPSA can issue a notice. In these cases, the IPSA Delegate will contact the person who is the subject of the complaint, inform them that a complaint has been made, and remind them of IPSA's Anti-Harassment Policy. The recipient of the notice will have the opportunity to respond to IPSA in writing, but no further formal investigation will be undertaken.
 - b) The formal investigation process will be handled in confidence, and the identity of the complainant will not be revealed to the respondent, except with the permission of the complainant. To proceed with the formal investigation process, the complaint must be made in writing and must include:
 - i. The name of the complainant;
 - ii. The name of the respondent;
 - iii. The nature of the conduct about which a complaint is being made, including, where possible, dates, times and locations;
 - iv. If appropriate, names of any participants who may have witnessed the conduct.
- 11) An investigation will be conducted by the Delegate in every case where a formal complaint is made.
 - a) The Delegate will ask the respondent to provide a written statement in response to the complaint. The Delegate may also contact identified witnesses or consult with others with direct knowledge of the incident in question. All evidence should be given in writing (including email).
- 12) At the end of the formal investigation, the Delegate will propose a resolution for the matter. Resolution may include:
 - a) Determination that IPSA's policy has not been violated and that the complaint will be dismissed;
 - b) Recommendation for informal resolution of the matter in order to re-establish a professional relationship between the parties, including options such as mediation;
 - c) Termination of IPSA congress or event participation for the respondent, including current and/or future IPSA congress and events;
 - d) A temporary or permanent restriction on the respondent regarding accession to leadership positions in IPSA, including the Executive Committee;
 - e) A temporary or permanent suspension of the respondent's IPSA membership.
- 13) The final decision regarding such proposals will be made by the EC, and the resolution of the matter will be notified to all parties in writing.
- 14) In any proceedings, IPSA will make every effort to protect complainants from retaliation. The information given by all parties and their identities will be treated with strict confidentiality. If anonymity becomes difficult to maintain in particular cases, IPSA will defer to the preferences of the complainant.
- 15) This Code of Conduct and its procedures for resolving grievances are not intended to, and are not a substitute for, the rights of any of the parties to seek legal redress. Any legal action on the part of the complainant will be exclusively a matter between the complainant, the respondent and the authorities in the location where the incident occurred. IPSA will not be a party to such legal action, nor will it accept any legal liability or financial responsibility for such action.

Political Leadership Between Democracy and Authoritarianism

This book sheds light on the theory of political leadership, which is still an under-researched field of political science. It is related to the philosophical argument about determinism versus activism and helps to understand the basic conflict of the 21st century between liberal democracy and new authoritarianism.

The Influence of Economic Interdependence on US-China Relations

US-China tensions over global supremacy escalated over the last years, increasing the likelihood of a future conflict. However, an open conflict would have costly consequences for both sides due to the countries' deep economic interconnectedness. Against this backdrop, the book addresses the question how high the incentives for both sides are to avoid conflict and continue co-operation out of economic considerations.

Syrian Female Refugees in Turkey

In recent years, migration has become one of the most discussed phenomena, both within and outside the academic world. This book takes into account how Syrian female refugees are socially, economically, culturally, ethnically and sexually marginalized.

The author analyzes how discourses produced in the Turkish host society affect Syrian female refugees and local women. What do these women think about the ongoing events, their status and the steps the Syrian government and NGOs?

Congress Program Session Chairs

Session Chairs are crucial to the Congress since their role is to solicit high-quality papers and excellent panels prior to the submission deadline. Then, they considerably enriched the Program and even the meaning of our main theme on “the new nationalism”. During the subsequent review process, they have a heavy burden selecting further papers and forming panels - over 600 were assembled by the 2021 Session Chairs that you see below, in spite of the difficulties of the year. We owe a tremendous debt of thanks to each and every person listed below, and this message expresses our very sincere gratitude.

ABOUT: Politics of the Low Countries (PLC) provides scientific insights in Belgian, Dutch and Luxembourg politics. It is the official journal of the Flemish (VPW), Francophone (ABSP) and Luxembourg (LuxPol) political science associations in cooperation with the Dutch Political Science Association (NKWP). The journal publishes blind peer reviewed research articles from a wide variety of methodological perspectives and on a broad range of topics such as political behaviour, political parties, political communication, parliamentary studies, public administration, political philosophy and even EU- and international politics. PLC's comprehensive scope, embracing all the major political developments in Belgium, the Netherlands and Luxembourg, makes it essential reading for both political practitioners and academics.

Res Publica: The 2005-2018 issues of Res Publica, the predecessor of PLC, are now online available for subscribers to Politics of the Low Countries.

CEU PRESS
ACCESS

The Opening the Future library membership programme is a CEU Press and COPIM initiative, launched earlier this year to facilitate transitioning the entire monograph program of CEU Press into open access together with its partners Project MUSE, LYRASIS and Jisc. Within the model, which is a first of its kind, CEU Press provides access to portions of their highly-regarded backlist, to which members subscribe. The revenue from these subscriptions is allocated entirely to allow the frontlist to be OA from the date of publication.

brill.com/parl

International Journal of Parliamentary Studies

Editor-in-Chief: Zsolt Szabó

The International Journal of Parliamentary Studies is a peer-reviewed international journal that provides a forum for academic research connected to legislative, procedural, political, comparative, and other matters related to parliaments at all governmental levels from all countries, including supranational (EU) matters. The journal analyses legislatures' actors and activities, including their internal and external relations, from a theoretical, procedural, or practical point of view. The editors cultivate a strongly international author base and encourage contributions from the various fields of the legal and social sciences.

brill.com/cpt

Comparative Political Theory

Editors-in-Chief: Takamichi Sakurai and Nicholas Tampio

Comparative Political Theory aims to become the premier academic journal dedicated to fostering dialogue among intellectual traditions from across the globe to address vexing social and political problems. The academic discipline of political theory largely formed in English-speaking countries in the twentieth century. This journal aims to address this imbalance. One way is to publish work on important authors, texts, arguments, schools, and traditions from around the world. A second way is to publish work that fosters conversations between social and political theorists within and outside of the West. In both cases, authors should explain how the work addresses pressing global problems.

Individuals will be eligible for free access to these new journals. Please be sure to visit the journal pages to take advantage of this offer.

Global Populisms

Series Editors: Amy Skonieczny and Amentahru Wahlrab

Global Populisms aims to enhance and expand the rapidly emerging robust, transdisciplinary, and global research on populism. Prior research on populism is now being re-examined, stretched, and challenged as a new wave of populism sweeps the globe. Global Populisms invites monographs and edited volumes that move the field in new directions, particularly by engaging other disciplines and identifying core cross-cutting themes. In short, the main purpose and objective of this series is to support subject-specific inquiries into the dynamics and effects of global populism and its varying impacts across, between, and within societies. Global Populisms is designed as a highly accessible book series aimed at introducing a large readership to the contemporary and historical field of "populism studies."

brill.com/popu

Populism

Editor-in-Chief: Lane Crothers

Populism is a peer-reviewed, international journal devoted to promoting transdisciplinary examination of populism in both historical and contemporary contexts. The journal's fundamental premise is that, while there is currently no coherent frame of analysis, most experts do agree that populism is a complex and variegated phenomenon that should be examined from different theoretical perspectives and methodological approaches. Aiming to serve as the premier forum for transdisciplinary research, Populism seeks to foster reflection on populism as one powerful way in which societies respond to rapid change in the social order. With that in mind, we also encourage contributions that discuss the impact of globalization on the transformation of the conventional ideological landscape in general and on populism in particular.

International Association for Political Science Students (IAPSS)

IAPSS IS A NETWORK OF POLITICAL SCIENCE STUDENTS AND JUNIOR FACULTY FROM OVER 70 COUNTRIES

The International Association for Political Science Students (IAPSS) is the worldwide representation of students of political science and related studies. IAPSS strives to deliver a sustainable academic contribution to the education of its members, to foster exchange among young political scientists across the globe and to promote social and scientific responsibility. We do this by offering a multiplicity of events, publications, professionalization and career services as well as lobbying for political science interests on the international level.
